Action taken Report on feedback Analysis (Students)

2022-23

Based on the feedback collected from 316 second year and final year students across the art, commerce, and science faculties, several key points have emerged:

Feedback: Students expect more use of ICT tools.

Action Taken: All heads and teachers are informed to conduct classes using PPTs and other ICT tools. Additionally, teachers are motivated to upload teaching material on the college's YouTube channel.

Feedback: Students suggest that the college should host events on the latest concepts, technology, events, etc.

Action Taken: It was communicated to all Heads of Departments (HODs) to conduct activities relevant to the current scenario, focusing on the latest concepts, technology, events, etc. These activities are designed to help students build understanding in both theoretical and practical scenarios.

2021-22

Based on the feedback collected from 285 second year and final year students across the art, commerce, and science faculties, several key points have emerged:

1. Remedial or Extra Classes Request: A significant number of students have suggested arranging remedial or extra classes to complete the remaining syllabus and address their doubts.
2. Increased Seminars for Personality Development: Students have also expressed a desire for an increase in seminars on campus.

Based on this feedback, the following action points can be considered:

- Organizing Remedial Classes: The institution can consider organizing remedial classes or extra sessions to address the specific needs of students who require additional support in understanding the syllabus and clearing doubts.
- Expanding Seminar Programs: Increasing the frequency and variety of seminars on campus can cater to the students' desire for personality development. These seminars could cover topics such as communication skills, leadership, time management, and career guidance.
- Engaging Faculty and Resources: Faculty members and resources within the institution can be mobilized to conduct these remedial classes and seminars effectively. Collaboration between different departments or faculties may also enhance the scope and impact of these initiatives.
